ABOUT THE CONDUCTOR

Dr. Carrie Turner is the director of orchestras at Lee's Summit South High School in the Kansas City area. Her work as conductor and teacher have taken her coast to coast working with top institutions and instructors in various styles and techniques in instrumental playing. Her passion for working creatively in different styles continues to inspire her to meet new artists and build collaborative relationships including artists Mark O'Connor, Tracy Silverman, and others. Dr. Turner earned a DMA degree in orchestral conducting from Texas Tech University and regularly performs throughout the United States.

ARIANNA STRING QUARTET

Hailed for their outstanding musicianship, the Arianna String Quartet has firmly established itself as one of America's finest chamber ensembles. They have appeared throughout North America, South America, Europe and Asia, with frequent visits to Brazil and South Africa. They have collaborated with many of the world's finest musicians, including members of the Vermeer, Tokyo, Cleveland and Juilliard Quartets, and their live performances have been heard on National Public Radio's "Performance Today," and "Live from Music Mountain", which broadcasts to 125 stations in the U.S. and to 35 countries. The ASQ has recorded for Albany Records and Urtext Digital Classics, and has a long-term contract with Centaur Records. Their most recent release of the two string quartets of Janáček, which has already received critical acclaim, is now available. The ASQ also looks forward to the continuation of the Arianna Chamber Music Festival, held on the campus of the University of Missouri - St. Louis, where they have been full-time faculty since 2000. The Arianna Quartet is also Ensemble-in-Residence at the Touhill Performing Arts Center in St. Louis, where they present their own series of concerts. Sought after for their highly effective approach to coaching and teaching as a quartet, the Arianna String Quartet has led the design and implementation of numerous chamber music programs including the Britt Quartet Academy, FEMUSC Intensive Chamber Music Program in Brazil and most recently, the University of Western Cape Chamber Music Institute, South Africa. In addition to intensive musical training for string quartets, this institute focuses on ideas of community, outreach and entrepreneurship, and helping students develop skills for a self-sustaining business that gives back to their communities through teaching and performances.

ABOUT THE CONDUCTOR

Cody Henry is an active trombonist in the St. Louis area. He attended college at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville where he studied jazz and received a Bachelors and Masters. Mr. Henry believes versatility is a strength as a professional musician and therefore plays in a variety of styles from jazz and classical to hip-hop and R&B. He has performed with many notable musicians including Terrell Stafford, Conrad Herwig, Dave Steinmeyer, Jim Pugh, Dennis Mackrel, Clay Jenkins, Dave Bennett, Reggie Thomas, Patrick Sheridan, Jon-Erik Kellso, Vince Giordano, Terence Blanchard, Randy Brecker and Russell Gunn. For the last few years, Mr. Henry has been touring jazz festivals occasionally with Wally's Warehouse Waifs, a band that covers everything from traditional jazz to Rock and Roll. He has also performed with Motown legends such as The Temptations, Martha Reeves and the Vandellas, and The Four Tops. Along with performing, Mr. Henry is an active jazz clinician, having contributed to the Jazz St. Louis program since 2008. He also lent his expertise to the Birch Creek Music Academy and the Jim Widner summer jazz camps. While attending SIUE, Mr. Henry has explored a niche in big band and small group arranging/composing. In recent years, he has also made himself "gig ready" on the euphonium and tuba and built up a large studio of low brass musicians all over the St. Louis area. Mr. Henry has made Godfrey, IL his home where he lives with his wife, Tami (also a trombonist!) his one-year old daughter, Zoe, and his dog, Basie.
